

National Cancer Research Institute Clinical Studies Groups – scientific members

Do you want to help shape cancer research in the UK?

The 18 National Cancer Research Institute (NCRI) Clinical Studies Groups (CSGs) have a remit to develop a portfolio of trials for specific cancer types or treatment approaches. This includes developing proposals, considering new research questions, overseeing the portfolio of existing studies, and securing research funding.

The CSGs are multi-disciplinary with representation from a wide range of specialities including (but not limited to) surgery, medical oncology, clinical oncology, radiology, pathology, epidemiology, psychology, statistics and translational science.

Please note, we do not accept applications from industry representatives due to potential conflicts of interest, however we do seek to work with industry through other routes where possible.

For a full list of the 18 Groups and their members please visit the NCRI website at <http://csg.ncri.org.uk/>.

We are currently seeking applications for the following Clinical Studies Groups:

Clinical Studies Group (CSG)	We are recruiting across all disciplines but would particularly welcome applications from the following areas
Bladder & Renal Cancer	Urologists with an interest in either renal or bladder cancer
Gynaecological Oncology	Radiologists
Haematological Oncology	Senior Research Nurses and Statisticians
Head & Neck Cancer	Medical Oncologists, ENT surgeons and Clinical Scientists
Prostate Cancer
Psychosocial Oncology & Survivorship	Allied Health Professionals and Consultant Oncologists
Sarcoma	Pathologists, Radiologists and Clinical Scientists
Supportive & Palliative Care

We would also welcome applications from basic and translational scientists with an interest in shaping clinical cancer research.

For further information on the CSGs and expectations of members, please see below documentation:

» CSG member role profile \(PDF\)

» CSG remit \(PDF\)

If you are interested in serving as a NCRI Clinical Studies Group member, please upload your CV and covering letter in support of your application here: <http://csg.ncri.org.uk/ncri-csg-membership-application/>. Applications will be reviewed by a selection panel in August 2017 and outcomes will be sent in September 2017.

Please note, the application deadline is 5pm, 31 July 2017. If you have any queries regarding the role, please contact Ian Lewis, Head of NCRI Clinical Research Groups, on 020 3469 5465 or Ian.Lewis@ncri.org.uk.